

Course Information
Course Code	EN394	* Credit Hours	32	* Credits	2
* Course Name	Language Acquisition
(Course Type)
Target Audience
(Language of Instruction)
* School	School of Foreign Languages
Prerequisite
Instructor			(Course Webpage)
* Description
* Description	This is a core course for the third-year English major students with an orientation of Linguistics. It includes acquisition of first, second and third language. To be specific, the stages and features of first language acquisition, the studies and research methodology of syntactic, semantic and phonetic acquisition in first language will be introduced and discussed. The factors affecting second language acquisition, the studies and research methodology of syntactic, semantic and phonetic acquisition in second language, as well as the relationship between SLA and other disciplines are also introduced and discussed. And finally, The factors affecting third language acquisition, the main studies and research methodology of third language acquisition will be introduced and discussed. This course aims to introduce basic concepts, theories and research of first, second and third language acquisition and prepare students for future work and research.
Course Syllabus

*
(Learning Outcomes)

- 1
- 2
- 3
- 4

Introduction	2
--------------	---	--	--	--	--

*
(Class Schedule & Requirements)

Notes
-------	--

1 *

2 300-500